I am an artist with a passion for Nature and Materiality. When walking through cities or the countryside, I am attracted to aesthetic attractions I encounter. Back in my crowded studio, I thrive on a sense of discovery when combining new elements into fresh artworks.

Risk-taking is something I really enjoy for the surprises that result, always worthwhile. While my heart swells with sensitivity and feelings about the work, my mind wanders over the entire length and breadth of the work until it is finished.

Discovery leads me to the path of treasures I do not know. I learn every time I work. Whatever I accomplish remains in the past. With intuition I know when the work is right because it feels right.

A mixed media experimental artist I am. The technique that draws me close to materials is unit construction, lending itself to sculpture and painting. I am at home charting a creative path using recycled paper and organic sustainable materials.
